

Sr. Trade Compliance Analyst Torrance, California, United States

Moog Aircraft Group is looking for a Sr. Trade Compliance Specialist to support and facilitate contract and subcontract activities related to the export and import of goods, technology and services for the site. In this role, you will obtain required export/import licenses and government authorizations to insure Moog's compliance with U.S. export/import laws. You will function as the subject matter expert and Empowered Official for the Operation, acting as the Operation focal point for trade related issues, inquiries and overall compliance driven by U.S. trade controls and regulations. This position is located at our aerospace plant in Torrance, CA.

Moog Aircraft Group is the leader of advanced flight controls for commercial and military aircraft. We are positioned on virtually every aircraft in the marketplace, supplying reliable systems that are highly supportable and add significant value for our customers. Moog Aircraft Group is a sector of Moog (NYSE:MOG-A). Moog designs, manufactures and integrates precision motion control components and systems. Our high-performance solutions are used in satellites and space vehicles, military and commercial aircraft, launch vehicles, missiles, industrial machinery, marine applications, and medical equipment. While we are most known for our products that are the best in the industry, what's unique about Moog is our culture of trust and mutual respect that allows for personal initiative, autonomy and excellence. Headquartered in East Aurora, NY, we employ over 11,500 employees in 28 countries.

Key Responsibilities:

- Serve as a facilitator and consultant on trade matters within the Operation in order to aid the development and administration of international trade. Procure licenses and other USG authorizations as required to comply with U.S. trade regulations. Within the Operation, the person will insure compliance to export/import regulations associated with the use of Moog's international sites, the expansion of a global supply-chain and the development of an international customer base.
- Actively communicate export requirements to the Operation. Identify, counsel and administer aspects of business activity which are impacted by trade regulations.
- Support and assist the Company Compliance Group in the administration of Moog's trade compliance program. Serve as active, participating member of the Trade Compliance Council.

- Expertise in ITAR, EAR and OFAC regulations affecting the trade of Moog product, technical data and services. Expertise in the use of automated licensing tools and resources. Responsible for the legality of transactions and accuracy of data.
- Effectively communicate procedures associated with the licensing process, implementation of provisos, technology control, foreign visitor control, foreign travel and hiring of foreign nationals. Facilitate the necessary level of training for export compliance.
- Serve as a subject matter expert in trade compliance. Continuously increase knowledge and understanding of the export compliance arena. Remain aware of and communicate changes in policies.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Bachelor's Degree from an accredited institution
- Minimum 5 years of experience in, or supporting, a manufacturing organization
- Minimum 5 years of direct import/export licensing experience
- Due to federal contract obligations, must be a US Citizen or US Permanent Resident (Green Card Holder)
- Must be able to obtain a Security Clearance

Preferred Qualifications Include:

- Advanced Degree in International or Global Business
- Advanced knowledge of U.S. export/import regulations including ITAR, EAR, OFAC.
- Trade compliance certifications
- Experience in Contracts or Program Administration
- Trade compliance experience in the aerospace and/or defense industry
- Exceptional interpersonal skills for influencing both internal and external personnel.
- Highly developed and proven written and verbal communication skills.
