Can you believe it? It's already been a full year since the first of the Trump administration's Section 301 tariffs on China origin imports took effect. KPMG LLP (KPMG) invites you to an upcoming webcast to review the action-packed year and present lessons learned from companies on the front lines.

The presenters will dive deep into:

- Geopolitical Update – Assessment of the evolving political landscape that surrounds tariff actions then and now and forecasts for the future of US/China trade relations (presented by Eurasia Consulting Group).
- Trade Unrest Winners and Losers: Chaos is a Ladder – How companies are leveraging trade disruption into substantial competitive opportunity while others struggle to separate from the pack.
- Key Strategies for Success – Detailed analysis of successful, and less than successful, supply chain and tariff mitigation strategies from across industries. Discussion will focus on key lessons learned and critical success factors identified in the Trade Unrest of the first year.

This webcast will be of significant interest to anyone seeking a perspective on the longevity of these tariffs and a better understanding of how successful companies are maneuvering to outflank their competition in tumultuous times.
