Please join us for U.S. – China Trade: Navigating Tariffs, the latest in KPMG's U.S. International Corridors Webcast series focusing on investment opportunities, challenges, and trends in key international markets around the globe.

A year into the U.S. – China trade war, few trade experts see the U.S. - China relationship improving any time soon. Instead, companies are preparing to dig in for the long haul. Both U.S. and International firms are being impacted, but which industries are most affected and what actions can possibly be taken by companies in these industries to obtain the best possible outcome?

Join us to get insights and an informed view of the latest developments of the U.S. - China trade war, the risks of additional tariffs, their implications, and the exclusion process for companies in both countries.

One continuing professional education (CPE) credit will be offered to U.S. participants who meet the eligibility requirements.

The webcast will last approximately 60 minutes, including a question-and-answer session. To register, please click here.

After registering for this event, you will receive details on how to log in to the webcast (or dial in for audio-only participation), as well as how to access any presentation materials.

Thank you, and we hope you can participate in KPMG's U.S. – China Trade: Navigating Tariffs webcast on Tuesday, August 6, 2019 from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. (U.S. EDT).
