Join the L.A. Area Chamber, U.S. Chamber and the consulates of Mexico and Canada in Los Angeles as their respective consul generals share their insights on the opportunities surrounding the new U.S.-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA) to strengthen trade in the region during the crisis and recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic.

The L.A. Area Chamber has actively advocated for the passage of the USMCA — an updated trilateral partnership — which will go into effect on July 1.

Background:

USMCA brings the more than 25-year-old North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) into the 21st century with updated provisions for digital trade, intellectual property, financial services and agricultural trade.

- California exported nearly $48.5 billion to Canada and Mexico
- Trade with Mexico and Canada supports nearly 14 million U.S. jobs
- Canada and Mexico buy more than one-third of U.S. merchandise exports
