About Redwood Materials

Redwood Materials was founded in 2017 to create a circular supply chain for electric vehicles and clean energy products, making them more sustainable and driving down the cost for batteries. We're doing this by developing and deploying new technologies to increase the scope and scale of recycled and sustainable materials in the global battery supply chain.

Trade Compliance Analyst

Redwood Materials' Integrated Supply Chain team is seeking a motivated individual to join our company as a Trade Compliance Analyst. As a Trade Compliance Analyst, you will play a pivotal role in ensuring that our international trade operations comply with relevant laws, regulations, and policies. The ideal candidate will possess a strong understanding of global trade compliance, exceptional analytical skills, and attention to detail.

Responsibilities will include:

- Manage and maintain accurate records for import/export transactions, ensuring documents are complete, accurate, and in compliance with regulatory requirements.
- Interpret and apply trade regulations to ensure compliance with customs, import/export, and trade laws.
- Guide internal stakeholders regarding Redwood's trade compliance policies and procedures.
- Classify products according to the Harmonized Tariff System for proper customs clearance.
- Evaluate opportunities to leverage preferential trade agreements and other trade facilitation programs, ensuring the proper usage of agreements and programs to optimize cost savings.
- Work closely with customs brokers, freight forwarders, suppliers, and customers to facilitate efficient and compliant international trade transactions.

Desired Qualifications:

- Bachelor's degree in international business, Supply Chain, Logistics, or a related field is preferred, or equivalent work experience.
- Demonstrated experience in trade compliance, customs, or import/export operations.
- Knowledge of trade laws, regulations, and compliance requirements.
- Familiarity with enterprise global trade management software.
- Willing to travel between Redwood locations as needed.
- A passion for sustainability and making the world a better place!

The position is full-time. Compensation will be commensurate with experience.
